Calgary Buffaloes Defeat Native Sons

Calgary Buffaloes backed by brilliant net minding by Henry Bassen, turned back the fighting band of Lethbridge Native Sons 3-1 at the Didsbury Memorial Arena Saturday night, in a hard fast-checking Western Canada Junior Hockey League game.

The win for the Calgary Sextet moved them into a third place tie with Edmonton Oil Kings.

Buffaloes led 1-0 at the end of the first period, and both teams battled through a scoreless middle frame. Calgary outscored Native Sons 2-1 in the final session.

Bassen was exceptionally brilliant in the first period, when Pete Sloan's crew hammered away at the Buffalo net, but the Calgary custodian foiled all Lethbridge attempts to get on the scoreboard.

Outside of Bassen, the rest of Jack Arbour's team played inspired hockey and were worthy winners. Only for a few moments in the early part of the third period did the club play defensive hockey to protect the one-goal margin, and after Native Sons equalized, Calgary turned on the pressure again until the final whistle.

A costly penalty to Dick Lamouroux gave Buffaloes their first goal. Kinawichew carried the puck over the Lethbridge blue line and laid a perfect pass to Peden. Frank made no mistake with a backhand shot that caught the top right hand corner to give Buff's a 1-0 lead.

In the scoreless second period both teams battled hard and the largest crowd of the year experienced an entertaining brand of hockey.

Buffaloes elected to play defensive hockey in the third period and it was easy to see that Lethbridge marksmen were coming close.

The next 10 minutes of the 15:00 mark when Jones tipped a loose puck behind Bassen. Arisman started the play when he passed out the back and the puck hit a Buffalo defenceman's leg and stopped on the goal line. Jones managed to get his stick to the loose rubber.

A penalty to Connors was another costly one as far as Native Sons were concerned. McChes took the puck into the Lethbridge blue line and laid a perfect pass to Peden. Frank made no mistake with a backhand shot that caught the top right hand corner to give Buff's a 1-0 lead.

Dean looked like tying the game for the second time when he had a clear breakaway at centre ice. He skated right in on top of Bassen, but the Calgary netminder robbed him of the goal.

With both teams at full strength Kinawichew notched the clincher midway through the final stanza, when he took a double relay from Peden and Houghton and blazed a shot at the top left hand corner that gave Martin no chance.

In the dying moments of the game, Arisman missed a wide-open goal which could have reduced Buff's lead, but the Calgary team had the play under control for the rest of the game.

Lethbridge—Goal, Martin; defence, Yanoski, Zemrat, Smith, Smegal; forwards, Capul, Lamouroux, Winder, Connors, Maguire, Arisman, Peden, Jones, Gauthier.

Calgary—Goal, Bassen; defence, Houghton, Scott, Hughes; forwards, Kinawichew, McMahon, Duke, Port, Schirmer, Brisson, Gilday, McFeet, McChes, Peden.

Officials—Joe Shannon, referee; Aubrey Winters, linesman.

Mrs. P. Hauser gave an interesting paper on "Increase in Heart Disease Today."

The raffle was won by Mrs. Arnold McCulloch.

On the hospital board the retiring members enjoyed the delicious lunch served by the hostess.

At a recent meeting of the Mountain View Health Unit held in the health clinic in Didsbury, Dr. J. Rawlinson, formerly medical health officer for the Stettler Health Unit, received appointment as chief medical health officer for the Mountain View Health Unit.

Dr. Rawlinson replaces Dr. F. J. Lishman who resigned at the end of the year to accept the appointment as director of the Kamloops Health Unit.

The second floor suite, recently vacated by Dr. Lishman and family was rented to Miss M. Sakal and Miss D. Nickel.

K. Luke brought up the matter of annexing ranges 8, 9, 10 of 1D, 4 to the Health Unit. He believed if the set-up was explained to them briefly and correctly they would be willing to join the area. Mr. Luke was appointed as a committee of one to interview the Canada Cement Co. and the Canmore Coal Co. and explain to them the Health Unit set-up and ascertain if they would be willing to join the Mountain View Health Unit.

In the matter of a plumbing inspector, Dr. Bester informed the board that as plumbing inspectors were so scarce, the government was going to authorize the sanitary inspectors of each unit to act as plumbing inspectors. A 1-day course would be held in Calgary shortly for the convenience of the sanitary inspectors.

A letter was authorized to be sent to the department stating that this unit believed the sanitary inspectors job would be too onerous if required to be a plumbing inspector also.

It was decided by motion that the sanitary inspector be requested to send out a board meeting so that he could be available to answer any questions pertaining to his branch of the Unit.

Arnold Rodonske Dies In Car Accident Sunday

Arnold Rodonske, 21, driver for the Tridren Drilling Company, was killed instantly, and Miss Shirley S. Arnold, his sister, was seriously injured when their car went over the bridge at the south approach to Didsbury on Sunday night about 11 o'clock.

Mr. Rodonske and Miss Sharples were returning to Didsbury from Calgary and on approaching the south road from the highway the car is said to have skidded on the icy road and went over the bridge and down about eight feet into the creek bed.

Miss Sharples was taken to the Didsbury hospital and while the extent of her injuries has not been determined, she is now resting comfortably in the local hospital.

ON CIVIL DEFENCE (By Mrs. H. Lynch Staunton)

ARTICLE XVI Chemical Warfare (2)
In Chemical Warfare, the term gas is used to denote any chemical substance which may be employed as a war weapon on account of its poisonous effect on man. The gas may be, as its name implies, an invisible vapor. Or it may be minute solid particles of liquid droplets borne in the air, and invisible. Or it may be in the form of a liquid which evaporates very slowly to form vapor. In this case both the liquid itself and the vapor are very dangerous. They contaminate all persons and things they contact, and the area involved remains uninhabitable for considerable time unless something is done to neutralize the liquid or destroy it.

Two methods of gas attack might be used against a city—gas bombs or gas sprays. The bombs would be filled with the liquid and designed to explode on the ground or in the air, and the resulting area would be heavily contaminated; and in addition, droplets and vapor would be carried some distance downwind. The vapor would last until all the liquid had evaporated or the area had been decontaminated. The chemical could be sprayed from aircraft, or it could be blown in the wind to the ground like a shower of rain.

The success of a gas attack depends largely on the element of surprise and the unpreparedness of the target.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The fact that the exercise of spiritual faith always bears fruit will be the underlying theme of the Sunday services in all Christian Science churches. The subject of the lesson sermon is "Spirit." It is exemplified in these words of Paul (Acts 21: 13): "What mean ye to weep and to break mine heart? I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus." It is also stressed in these declarations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 410): "Every trial of our faith in God makes us stronger. The more difficult seems the material condition to be overcome by Spirit, the stronger should be our faith; and also the purer our love."

BIG EXPORT IN TIRES

The automobile tire industry has drummed up business in the four corners of the globe to the point where exports are running more than double 1950 at an annual rate of over $20 millions, says The Financial Post. Basic changes in the raw material picture is helping to keep operating costs down, is hastening the day when price cuts may be announced. Second line tires have been successfully marketed to help the strained pocketbook of Canadian motorists.

What Is Answer To Our Coyote Problem?

Various methods have been used in Alberta to control coyotes, and still others are in experimental stages.

First organized efforts were coyote hunts, airplane hunting and the use of trained men with coyote hounds. In the spring of 1951, cyanide guns were introduced and this winter a poison named Compound 1080 is under experiment.

In the early part of 1943, after numerous complaints by sheep raisers that coyotes were menacing Alberta's lamb crop, the Alberta government began paying a bounty of $5 for each coyote shot. This coyote policy was administered by the Game Branch of the Department of Lands and Forests, which paid bounty of 4,554 coyotes during the first year.

During the period of bounty payments, all coyotes were hunted down and killed with either rifles or shotguns.

A favorite recreation during the bounty period was to organize a coyote hunt in which a band of men formed a circle around a selected area, sometimes five or five miles in diameter, then gradually closed in.
The captain of the hunt was responsible for the success of the event, and saw to it that the men shot only straight ahead, so that no other hunter would be injured.

In the hunt, which still is used in some parts of Alberta, the coyotes run away from the men, until they realized they are surrounded. After a period of indecision, the animals make their attempts to break out of the circle of death. Some charge singly, others in small groups, and the firing begins. If the hunters are cool and experienced, no coyotes escape; but sometimes an overly excited hunter misses his target and allows it to plunge through the circle to safety.

Many other birds and animals are driven ahead of the hunt and are imprisoned in the circle. These often include deer, fowl, hens, and rabbits. But the hunt is called for coyotes and one or two constables of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police accompanying the party discourage shooting deer and wildfowl out of season.

The second mode of coyote hunting was introduced by professional hunters flying in light aircraft. The hunters would fly low until they spotted a coyote and then take after him, firing high-calibre rifles, but the wily coyote soon caught on, and became harder to shoot in this manner. Nevertheless, large numbers of coyotes were killed from low flying planes.

Coyote hunting from the air or with the use of dogs were the main methods of coyote control under the first government policy. The government paid 75 percent of the cost of such hunts and the municipalities 25 percent. Fish and Game Associations were allowed to operate under the same basis and employ professional hunters with dogs. The Calgary Fish and Game Association, which was the only association of its kind in the Province to organize such a campaign, found it could make the money needed to pay 25 percent of the hunting costs by selling coyote pelts which their hunters had shot.

The two professional coyote hunters hired by the Calgary Fish and Game Association claimed they did away with 313 coyotes within a radius of 35 miles east of Calgary between January 9 and March 5, 1951.
They used half-ton trucks to drive across the fields and chase any coyotes they flushed. When the coyote tired and the range closed to about 150 yards, the hunters released their special coyote dogs — varying mixed strains of greyhounds, stag-hounds and Russian wolfhounds — which ran down the coyotes and killed them.

Experiments with coyote repel-lents in the Province have shown varying degrees of success. This method of coyote control is relatively unproven and has been undertaken privately by farmers and ranchers.

One of the most unique methods in this field is the use of mothballs to keep coyotes away from sheep.
Whether the smell is distasteful to the coyote, or the wily animal fears the new smell is some kind of a trap, cannot be fully ascertained, but in many cases it has been highly successful in protecting stock.

One rancher in the Rocky Mountain House district purchased five pounds of moth balls and placed them around the field where his sheep were killed. He dropped one at every post and two along the wire between each post. For the next several days the sheep were not molested, but the rancher discovered tracks which showed the coyotes had approached the fence, then turned away.

He renewed the ring of mothballs after heavy rains, or whenever necessary, and reported that none of his sheep were lost to coyotes during the whole season. Other ranchers in the district lost about 50 sheep during the same summer.

Another farmer, near Seba Beach, reported success with mothballs by telling them in small squares of cloth on the bottom wire of the fence, about 10 feet apart. Through this method, the farmer reported complete success, even from keeping the coyotes away from a batch of butchered offal.

A second repellent method successfully used by an Alberta farmer was made of kerosene, creolin and crankcase oil. A single opening was made in the fence of a field where sheep were kept and was draped with heavy sacks soaked with the odorous mixture. Whenever a sheep passed from one field to the other, the sucking brushed over the animal's back, depositing some of the repellent on his body.

The farmer believes the smell of the sheep was so distasteful that no coyote wanted to molest them.

In April of 1951 the Alberta Department of Agriculture began its use of coyote poison for coyote control. An ingenious device known as the coyote-getter is used to eject a load of cyanide powder into the coyote's mouth. The coyote-getter is a small gun loaded with a cyanide cartridge and placed on the ground. Only a cap, smeared with scent attractive to coyotes, is above ground level. When the coyote pulls the baited cap, a cartridge is released by the firing pin and the shell fires the poison into the mouth of the animal. The coyote dies within 40 to 100 yards of the set.

THE VALLEY OF THE DINOSAUR

The story of the Red Deer Valley, "the richest dinosaur graveyard in the world" and "the most paintable valley in Canada" is told in full in the current issue of Maclean's Magazine.

Assistant editor Barbara Moon visited the Drumheller area to gather material at first hand about the area which she calls "Dinosaur Valley, Alberta."

Photographs in full color accompany the article.

Miss Moon writes: "Drumheller—has appropriated to itself the honor of being Gateway to the Badlands.
It points out with sweet reasonableness that it's the only city actually in the valley—Hanna, on the plains to the northeast, and Brooks, to the southeast, both have tentative passes at the Gateway title, but so far Drumheller is away ahead on points."

The Red Deer badlands are generally acknowledged to be the thickest concentration of dinosaur bones in the world" the Maclean's article reports, adding "the Russians of course challenge this claim."

The article traces the colorful history of the region and pays tribute to the work of Wilfred Garstang, Hodgson, who carves juniper roots into prized sculptures.

Big sore spot with Drumheller's Mayor John MacKay, secretary of the chamber of commerce is the valley's "skimp tourist trade." Miss Moon writes, "In spite of highly colored broadsheets from his office and from the Alberta Government only a few hundred trippers trickle into the valley each year."

PRICE OF WHEAT DROPS

Under terms of the International Wheat Agreement, the maximum price of a bushel of wheat is $1.25 in United States funds. When the pact was signed in 1949, Canadian and U.S. currencies were at par.

Later, Canadian currency was de-valued 10 percent, making top grade wheat worth roughly $2.00 in Canadian funds. When the Canadian dollar was set free, it levelled at a discount of five or six percent.
Prairie Wheat sold under the wheat agreement and on the domestic market then brought about $1.90.

Following recent advances in the Canadian dollar value, the International Wheat Agreement price of a bushel of Canadian wheat has dropped to $1.80 for 1 northern at Fort William.

DOMESTIC BARS SHOULD GO

Pressure is again being put on certain provincial legislatures to have painters and decorators licensed in specified industrial areas. There have been similar attempts, some of them successful, by organizations representing plumbers, barbers, steamfitters and electricians. If all these groups have their way a man won't be able to paint his own kitchen, replace a burned-out bulb or cut the grass in his back yard, without being licensed to do so.

This licensed business has gone to absurd and dangerous lengths, declares the Financial Post, in far too many cases it is simply a move to halt competition, to reserve all the work in certain areas for a favored few. Instead of permitting any further expansion provincial authorities should undertake their drastic curtailment.

No matter how skilled a person may be in his own town or city, too often he is not permitted to use his knowledge and skills in another town or city only a few miles away. Before he can do so he must take out another expensive license and in some cases, go through the formality of learning his trade all over again.

There are far too many international restrictions in the world today, without developing a further rash of municipal or provincial barriers within our own country. If we are to grow and prosper, if we are to keep costs low and efficiency high, these domestic barriers must be removed.

MORE SHIPS

Shipbuilding under construction and on order in Canadian yards is currently worth approximately $225 millions, with repairs, refit and overhauls estimated at another $25 millions, making a total shipyard program of $250 millions. Much, if not most of this will be completed only as materials, especially steel, and equipment become available.

SERVICE
BOARD
NOTESW.K. Snyder, Field SupervisorMaleic Hydrazide

This is a chemical discovery still so new that it is not for sale as yet commercially. Interesting experimental work carried out by research workers during the past several seasons show promise for this, a growth regulator. A total of 35 different plots comprising 74 acres were sprayed with Maleic hydrazide between August 1950 and October 1951. In the United States. Most promising results were obtained on 12 one-acre plots in the center of islands which were sprayed once with the chemical at the rate of 2 pounds per acre last May 2 and 3. Maleic hydrazide slowed down the growth of lawn grasses in these test strips to a point where only two mowings were needed throughout the spring and summer. Adjacent untreated sections had to be mowed 19 times throughout the season. The grass in the sprayed plots was equal in appearance to the mowed sections throughout the season.

Application of maleic hydrazide to grass which has not been cut is preferred in order to give a large absorption area of green foliage. One week should elapse before it is moved to allow the chemical to be absorbed and translocated to the roots of the plants. 2-4, D can be applied at the same time as maleic hydrazide and thus the undesirable weed plants can be eliminated and the growth of grass regulated in one application.

Canada is one of the few countries in the world which has stand and gauge railroads right across the country.

GREATEST SHOW ON

The greatest show on earth just now is the industrial production of the Western nations.

Canada has a big role in the show. And Canada's primary textile industry, with the largest manufacturing employment, the largest payroll, and with factories well diversified throughout the smaller communities, is a star player in the Canadian show.

Dominion Textile has an important part in all this.

No Special Numbers For Car Owners In '52

"Special" car license numbers will be discontinued this year, according to the provincial government's motor vehicle branch.

With the end of special license numbers, the government also is discontinuing the transfer of license plates from one car to another. Even if a car is sold, the license plates will remain with it.

Previously Alberta motorists have been able to reserve "Special" numbers from year to year and choose numbers which repeat their telephone or house address numbers, lucky or sentimental numbers and so on.

However, the number of plates issued—well over 153,000 last year—has made it impossible to continue issuing special numbers. The abolition of special numbers will end delay at the windows.

The new license plates, which go on sale late in March and must be bought by April 15, will have no numbers or no telephone numbers. Car owners who have had special numbers for years will take whatever plate they can get this year.

MAKE SURE SEED WILL GROW

You cannot afford to take chances with untested seed grain this year. J.E. Birdsall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that if you already have grain in the bin, two things are necessary if you intend to seed some of it. First make sure that it's dry, then test for germination.

If the grain is dry a germination test will tell you what you want to know. If it is damp, the results of the germination test may lead you astray. Damp grain will not germinate well, so drying is essential before making the test. An important point here is that samples sent to the Plant Products Division at Calgary are tested after drying and results may not be representative of the damp grain still in the bin.

If your crop is still in the field, don't think that by taking a small sample from the unthreshed crop, drying and testing it, you will have an accurate measure of how it will grow. Much can happen before spring. Alternate wetting and drying or thawing and freezing may so injure the grain that it will be useless for seed.

Those who are considering grain for seed from crops still under the snow might be wise to look elsewhere. Don't leave it until the last minute though. Good seed may be hard to find towards spring. Make arrangements for your seed grain now.

Ancient pastime: Dice playing has been traced back almost to the beginning of history and there were sharpies even in that era because loaded dice have been unearthed in the ruins of Pompeii.
